The Greek element in Eastern Egypt

Presenter: Ioannis Zillis

Greeks have been present in Egypt since archaic times and in the years during the decline of the Ottoman Empire formed a thriving cultural and economic element. The presentation ranges over the history of this community and especially of the groups in Eastern Egypt from 1840-50 to 1966.

The presenter was born in Egypt, educated at the American University of Cairo and Athens University and worked for Shell Hellas. He has been a keen researcher of the role of the Greek element in Egypt.

The presentation will be in Greek
